

34-States V Congress

“Stop Bankrupting US”

Ronald Reagan:

“Unless [the states] act quickly, the people running Congress will bankrupt America.”

Harry Reid: “We are driving ourselves into bankruptcy. We’ve got to do something.”

Federalist 85: The Congress 'shall call a convention.'

- “The Congress 'shall call a convention.' Nothing in this particular is left to the discretion of that body.”
- “Whenever nine States (two thirds) concur, (Congress) will have no option upon the subject.”

There are 34 Unrescinded Article V Applications:

Why has Congress not complied with Article V's mandate to Call a Convention when 34 states have approved Applications?

Ans: They want to keep their constitutional monopoly.

Congressional Research Service-2017: "...state Applications have not been collected and are scattered..."

House Rule (5): Congress has disregarded its own to rule "to make public (selected) Applications" organized by "state and year received" since 2019. (Note: "to make public" is not an official "count.")

There were no co-sponsors or Congressional hearings on the proposed "Article V Records Transparency Act of 2017" which would take "5 years and $10 million" to "compile" but not designate as "valid" any of the 700+ state Applications passed since 1789.

Why has Congress never counted a single Article V Application?

As U.S. Senate Budget Committee Chairman (ret.) stated:

“Congress isn’t going to allow the states to dictate budgeting rules.”

“The Archivist of the United States surprised Congress by certifying that three fourths of the states had ratified the 27th Amendment 203 years after its proposal.”

Congress “Officially Counts” House and Senate votes to the two-thirds required to propose a Constitutional Amendment to the States for ratification.

Congress has held no hearing to officially count Article V Applications despite media reports of 32 Income Tax and Balanced Budget Amendment Article V Applications.

Balanced Budget Amendment Q & A

1. How could a balanced budget amendment (BBA) address a national emergency like Covid-19?

Ans: A BBA could be designed to allow emergency spending above its annual spending-growth-limit (SGL). Excess spending in one year could reduce the SGL over future years by the emergency-spending amount plus interest.

2. Would taxes have to be raised to balance the budget?

Ans: No. A BBA designed to limit the growth of government spending would not require budgets to balance annually. Balance would be achieved by keeping the growth of government in line with the growth of the economy.

3. Would balancing the budget require Social Security benefits to be cut?

Ans: No. A BBA could be designed with an exemption for Social Security.

4. Would Medicare and Medicaid be affected by a spending-growth-limited BBA?

Ans: Yes. All government entitlement programs and trust funds (except Social Security) could be required to institute reforms to slow their growth.

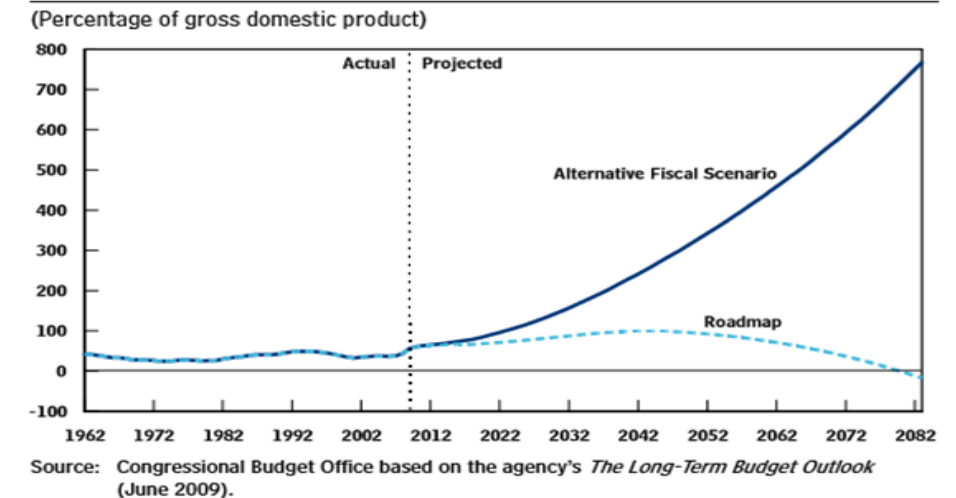

5. How could a balanced budget amendment be enforced?

Ans: A BBA could be designed with a requirement for an annual independent audit. If the audit found that the spending growth limit had been exceeded, a BBA could penalize members of Congress by declaring them ineligible for reelection.

6. What impact would a spending growth-limited BBA have on the national debt?

Ans: The $26 trillion debt could be completely paid off in 75 years without raising taxes or cutting spending.

Figure 1.
Debt Held by the Public Under CBO's Alternative Fiscal Scenario and the Roadmap

7. What impact would the spending-growth limited BBA have on family income?

Ans: By constitutionally prohibiting government spending from growing faster than the economy, personal income (adjusted for inflation) would quadruple from $40,000 to $160,000 per year, over 75 years.

8. What happens if a BBA is not passed?

Ans: The Congressional Budget Office estimates that under current law, annual deficits will increase resulting in stagnant family incomes, tax increases and ultimately an economically catastrophic depression.

Deficits grow from 4.2 percent of GDP in 2019 to 8.7 percent in 2049, driving up debt. Net spending for interest on debt accounts for most of the growth in total deficits.
