

THE Question State Legislators should always ask those lobbying for an Article V Convention: Where does the Constitution say that?

Nothing Convention lobbyists tell State Legislators about the Article V Convention is true.

1. The Convention method of proposing Amendments to our Constitution was added to Article V because of the Framers' concern that Congress might not consent to Amendments needed to correct defects in the Constitution.

But the convention method has always been seen as a dangerous path to take: As shown at endnote 3 of the above linked flyer, James Madison warned that those who secretly wish for a new Constitution would push for a Convention under the pretext of getting Amendments.

And this is why four US Supreme Court Justices \(2 Conservatives & 2 Liberals\), James Madison, Alexander Hamilton, and other Jurists and legal scholars also warn against an Article V Convention.

2. Convention lobbyists claim a Convention is a focused event strictly limited to considering Amendments selected in advance by at least 34 State Legislatures. But our Constitution doesn't say that. And meanwhile, the lobbyists' cohorts in Congress have filed legislation (HCR 24) providing that all applications are to be counted together, regardless of the Amendment specified in the applications!! Here's the Proof. So *there's no such thing as a "limited convention"!

3. Convention lobbyists assure State Legislators that a Convention is perfectly safe because State Legislatures will select & control Delegates to the Convention. But our Constitution doesn't say that. Furthermore, in Congress' preliminary preparations for a Convention in the past, they indicated they would provide for the popular election of Delegates. Here's the Proof.

4. They jeer at those who heed Madison's warnings, as well as the warnings of the Supreme Court Justices and other Authorities - even though a COS Board Member, Law Professor Robert P. George, has already co-authored a new Constitution which creates a new (and oppressive) government!

And that is only one of the several proposed new Constitutions already online - they all create dictatorships. See items 1 & 12 of this Exhibit List. And any new Constitution will have its own mode of ratification: E.g., the proposed Constitution for the Newstates of America provides at Art. XII, Sec. 1 thereof that it is ratified by a Referendum called by the President.

Convention lobbyists are not truthful when they assure you that anything which comes out a Convention has to be ratified by 3/4 of the States before it is effective.

So defeat all applications for Congress to call a Convention and rescind the applications your State has already sent to Congress.
